By the way, I do recall Jerry mentionign once that Foreman made a trip to meet his family to try to convince them to talk the client into pleaded guilty. You mentioned that when I was out there.

Our police guy is busy today , but I'll have him check on a Grantwohl photo. I clipped a good bit of stuff at the time of the weathermen, including the arrest list, which only gives first initials. The better known people would be clipped individually if you have a specific name.

Glad the papers are useful. Guard them well. I hope to use them sometime. Tell Harold I'm working on Sherman but have nothing interesting yet.

I met John O'Brien the other night in a bar. A good friend of mine knows him well. He says he is working on a book on Ray. Won't say what.

Dear Jim,

I fear I bombed out on the Ford perjury thing. Harold had suggested it before. I gave our people a memo on it and they checked it out without mentioning to me they were doing. They claim that what was used was not sensitive although it was from a classified document. I didn't agree, but I got vetoed. The judiciary committee did look into that angle I am told.

Why don't you hold onto the Ray papers for the time being. I would appreciate the paper concerning Ray's movements before King day.now if you could. Hang onto the rest for the time being. A closer look might reveal more for you.

I'll bounce the name of Melville Stephens off him if I can find him. Harold wrote to him and I told him he should answer. I don't know if he will. He's a funny guy.

I'll let you know about the photo when I find out.

Post script:

Found our police guy anyway. He said they have no record or photo of the arrest of Grantwohl.

Is it possible he was working under another name and had false ID's. They weren't to careful that day.
